

Everything will have internal flags to maintain the system, but they are not shown here. Among them is a flag for privacy settings. Everything can be private or not. If it is not private, no one can see it still unless they are your 'friend'. However, users will be searchable in order to facilitate adding friends or blocking people.

Users can send messages back and forth so there will be an 'Inbox' construct .. similar to a PM on a forum. This site will not have its own forum. However, it might have a 'social' aspect to it similar to a wall, but this idea may not be a great idea for the audience.
